

10 Things You Have to Do This Weekend

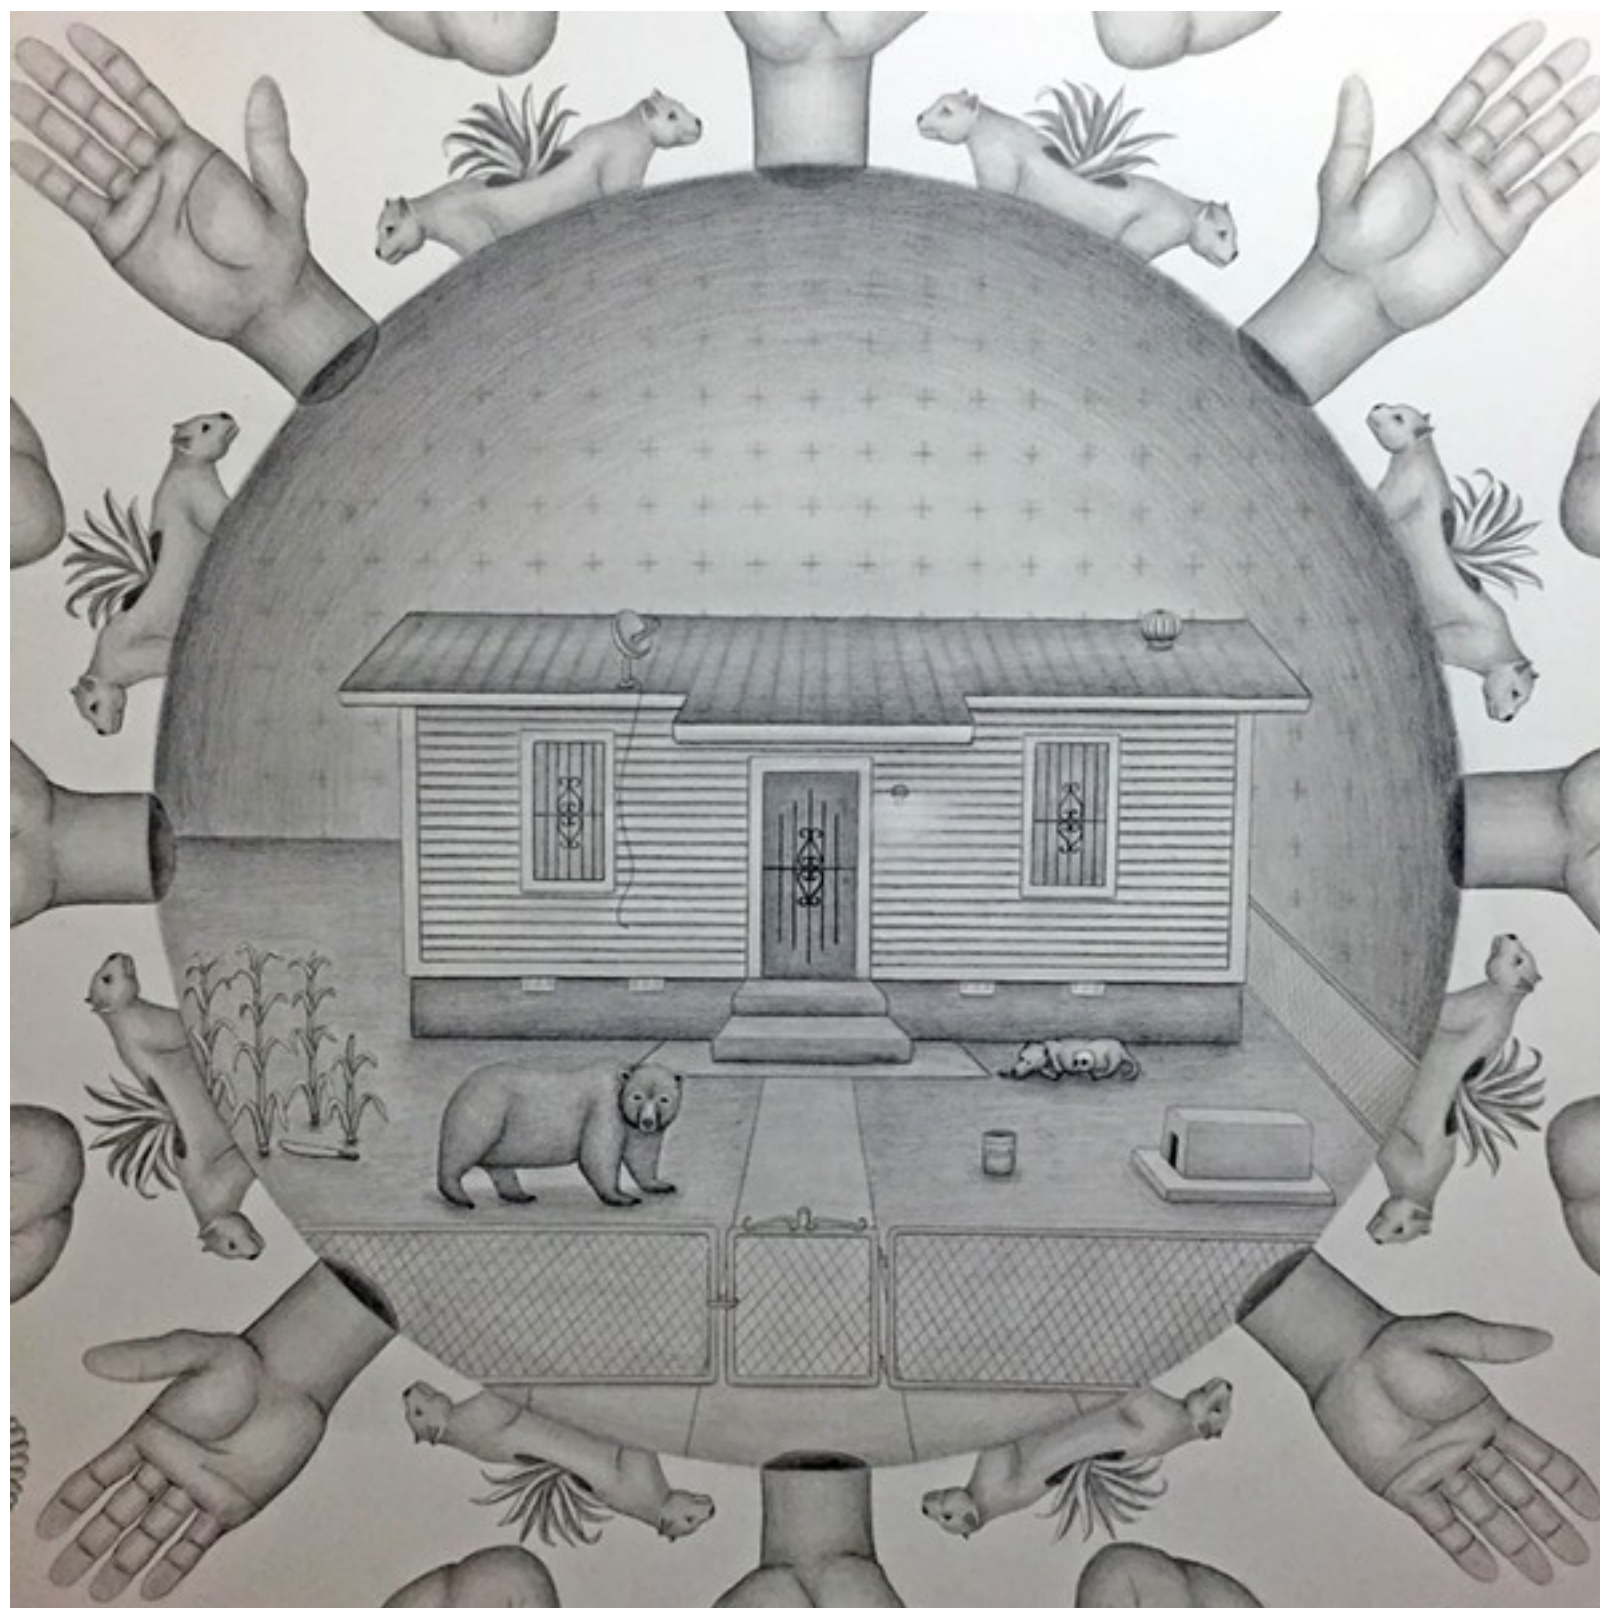

Tuesday, March 7, 2017

Posted By Bryan Rindfuss on Tue, Mar 7, 2017 at 7:41 pm

Page 7 of 10

Sat 3/11

“Dreams Are for Those Who Sleep”

Jose Fidel Sotelo

For San Antonio artist Jose Fidel Sotelo, art is an important means of self-exploration and a tool for cultural excavation, for pursuing balance and peace, and for appreciating the beauty in the everyday. Heavily influenced by his studies in design and photography, Sotelo started painting in 2009 with an eye for sharp, crisp images/lines and a penchant for burying complexity within simplicity. His latest exhibit, entitled “Dreams Are for Those Who Sleep,” departs a bit from his recent work that has alternated between vivid color and stark black-and-white precision. This exhibit, which explores “the meditative quality of repetitive symbolic imagery,” consists of large-scale graphite drawings that delve deep into Sotelo’s dreamscapes as well as images from Aztec mythology. Free, 7-10pm Sat, Provenance Gallery, 1906 S. Flores St.,

« previous 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 next » Full text

Tags: Gary Gulman, Warship Zine, David Cronenberg, Reflections on Landscape and Memory, Ana Fernandez, Guillermina Zabala, Julia Barbosa Landois, Joe Harjo, Sarah Fox, Alejandro Augustine Padilla, Saintlorraine, Britt Lorraine, Kristy Perez, Chris Ingalls, CAM Perennial, Killer Instinct, KI Con, Ken Little, San Antonio Spurs, Golden State Warriors, LaMarcus Aldridge, Juice Unit, Manu Ginobili, Patty Mills, Jonathon Simmons, Jose Fidel Sotelo, Dreams Are for Those Who Sleep, Contemporary Art Month, Femina-X, Fort Never, Volcán, Mexicans with Guns, Sarah Castillo, Lady Base Gallery, Jesús Helguera, Michael Martinez, Mark Anthony Martinez, AP Art Lab, Viva Vegería, Provenance Gallery, Rodney Carrington, Toby Keith, Beer for My Horses, Hangin’ with Rodney, Image

.....

Jump to comments

SPEAKING OF...

Spurs Grind Out Victory Against Grizzlies
Mar 24, 2017

The Spurs Kick Off the Week with a Monday Matchup Against the Cleveland Cavaliers
Mar 23, 2017

Local Synthpop Duo Hyperbubble Celebrates 20 Years of Crafting 'Pretty Plastic'
Mar 23, 2017

MORE »

READERS ALSO LIKED...

Union Pacific Robs Spooky Ghost Children Of Sole Purpose In Afterlife

Aug 31, 2015

Luminaria 2015 Will Light Up The San Antonio Museum Of Art

Sep 9, 2015

You Need These Scary Movie Sweaters In Your Life

Oct 1, 2015